2015 China Environmental Study Tour

Despite major pollution problems over years of incredible growth. China is now making great progress in sustainable energy production, leading many countries across the globe.

See for yourself some of these exciting developments.

OVERVIEW

Join our study tour to China in September 2015, conducted by the Australia China Friendship Society.

This tour will be led by the National President of ACFS, Dr. Ross Gwyther, who has had extensive experience as a research earth scientist.

This 10-day tour includes:

- Visits to projects and facilities
- Discussions with officials developing and implementing environmental policies
- Meet scientists, engineers and academics who design, plan and implement green initiatives.

HIGHLIGHTS

The tour will cover wind and solar farms, eco parks, sustainable buildings and industrial zones in Beijing, Tianjin, Baoding and Shanghai over 9 days. Tour size will be 15-20 persons and we aim to include some prominent Australian representatives in the environment movement. There will also be opportunities to explore cultural and historic sites in Beijing and Shanghai including Tiananmen Square and the Forbidden City.
